POLITICS IN A MIDDLE.

THE DEMOCRATS KNOW NOT WHAT TO DO.

Politics have become somewhat mixed—we mean, of course, Democratic politics. This party is in a terrible dilemma. The fact is, they know not what to do. For twenty years they have had no fixed or settled principles. Their main object being to steer the ship of State or hold the reins of Government. Now their only principle or battle-cry is "Anything to beat Grant."

The desire of their heart is to beat Grant; but they do not want to vote for Greeley. If they do not vote for Greeley they cannot beat Grant. If they decide to vote for Greeley they bury their party and join in a movement to elect a man who belongs, in his own language, to no party, but has fought the Democratic party all his life, where, after the election, will they belong?

The poor fellows are desperate. We pity them, honestly and truly, pity them. They have been wrong all their lives and they know it; but it is so hard for them to make confession of this fact. They want to get into office. Out of office the Democratic party cannot live. They cannot succeed if they stand where they are. It is certain and sure political death. If they join the Liberal movement, it looks about the same. In either event they see the "pale horse and his rider."

They are in about the same position as the fellow on the burning ship—if he stood where the fire was he would burn to death; if he jumped into the sea he would surely be drowned; so between the two chances he had but little choice. If Greeley could only change his name what a blessing it would be to the Democratic party, and then he might help them out of this dilemma. They do not like Grant because he whipped General Lee, and by the aid of the "Boys in Blue" and the loyal people of the country, suppressed the slaveholders' rebellion. They hate Grant. All rebels and disloyal persons do. They hate Greeley; but then Greeley hates Grant. They want to support Greeley for this reason. Thus far Greeley and the Democrats agree.

They agreed in some things before the war. Greeley was in favor of letting the cotton States go out of the Union. At that time we were an admirer (we mean before the war) of Horace Greeley; we relied upon his Tribune, indeed we almost, not to make it too strong, swore by the Tribune. But our confidence in that paper, and in Horace Greeley, was shaken when, in the Tribune, which we have carefully filed, dated Nov. 9, 1859, he wrote the following:

"If the cotton States shall become satisfied that they can do better out of the Union than in it, we insist in letting them go in peace. The right to secede may be revolutionary; but it exists nevertheless. * * * We must ever resist the right of any State to remain in the Union and nullify and defy the laws thereof. To withdraw from the Union is quite another matter, and whenever a considerable section of our Union shall deliberately resolve to go out, we shall resist all coercive measures to keep them in it. We hope never to live in a Republic where one section is pinned to another by the bayonets."

This was when we let go our hold on Horace Greeley. The language suited Jeff Davis and his rebel Democrats of the South. And we suppose it was this kindred feeling which caused Greeley, after the war, to travel hundreds of miles to become, unasked and unsolicited, the bondsman of Jefferson Davis. Again, the Tribune of November 26th, 1859, and we quote it verbatim et literaliter. Mr. Greeley said:

"If the cotton States unitedly and earnestly wish to withdraw peacefully from the Union, we think they should be allowed to do so. Any attempt to compel them by force to remain, would be contrary to the fundamental ideas on which human liberty is based."

Was it not such vagaries and false logic as this which drove the Southern rebels to believe that they could peacefully secede from the Union? Was not Horace Greeley inconsistent in these utterances with his life-long opposition to slavery? And do they not go to prove that if there had been no more reliable men than Mr. Greeley and the leaders of the Democratic party in the country, we would to-day have no Union, no United States Government; but instead, a Union split in twain, dissolved, dissevered—two distinct Governments and interminable war? It is these vagaries of Mr. Greeley which recommended him to the Cincinnati Convention, believing that the Democrats, especially those of the South, would support him.

Nevertheless they are in a dilemma. They like him for what he said about peaceable secession; but he has been in favor of equality, of universal suffrage, of almost every Radicalism that has afflicted and belittled their party, and they have no pledge on his part that he has given up those playful eccentricities or is sorry for the abuse he has indulged in at their expense. Yet they must beat Grant. This is now their only principle. Horace must do the same thing to be elected President of the United States. How strangely that word United States must sound to the Democrats and Horace. With them as leaders it would have to be written Divided States. Here they agree. If they could only forget the past, they could forgive the old philosopher for the hard names he has called them, and swallow him in a moment.

But you're dyed in the wool. Jefferson Davis Democrats like P. G. Meek, cannot forget, it does not agree with their nature. They are willing enough to forgive with the mental reservation, that the old grudge should hold good if they ever get on their legs again; but to forget, is to blot out, and their keen sense of past wrongs at the hand of Mr. Greeley, has made this blotting business a hard task for them. It is a fearful dilemma, and if we could suggest any practical way to escape it, we would, out of pure benevolence, give our Democratic friends the benefit of it. But we cannot afford any relief.

The Democracy is dead any way, and the Greeley movement is sure to die next November, no matter what may be the action of the Baltimore Convention. It now seems to us simply a question as to whether our Liberal friends and the Democrats want a double burial. If they want it, let them shut their eyes and jump; if they desire to live and grow, and be contented and happy the remainder of their days, let them drop the dry bones of Democracy, repudiate this sickly movement nursed by a few soreheads, and join the only substantial party now before the people—the party of true reform, of honesty, of loyalty, of intelligence; the party that has been doubly tried in peace and in war. In a word, let them attach themselves to the Republican party. It is never too late to do good. The good old poet says:—

"While the lamp holds out to burn,
The wisest sinner may return."

Democrats of Centre, of Pennsylvania, if you want to shout victory in the good old fashioned way; if you ever want to shout victory during your natural lives, the only chance you can have is offered under the old flag, with U. S. Grant as standard bearer. Fall into line.

THREE TIMES DEFEATED.

Judge Woodward, who leads the Democratic ticket as a delegate to the Constitutional Convention, has been THREE TIMES defeated by the vote of the people.

He was defeated in the State for Governor by Andrew G. Curtin.

He was defeated in his own Congressional district by Shoemaker.

And two years ago he was defeated for President Judge by Mr. Harding, in his own county, by nearly twenty-five hundred majority.

And this year he will assist in the great defeat of Charles R. Buckalew.

The Philadelphia Press of the 31st ult., pays this passing compliment to the Democratic candidate for Governor:

"All during the war, when Democracy was synonymous with treason, Mr. Buckalew gave his votes and influence to that organization, and whatever may have been his real sentiments, his acts and words were certainly not in sympathy with the cause of the Union. A zealous champion of his party it is fitting that it should honor him, but there is nothing in his record that appeals to Republican support, or can inspire the enthusiasm of the members of the party of human liberty, equal rights, and real reform."

"I do not say that the Democratic party is composed of horse thieves, but you will find that all the horse thieves belong to the Democratic party." So wrote Mr. Greeley not many months ago, and to-day he is beseeching the Democratic party to take him as their Presidential candidate. If they do, it is about the only thing we can think of that would give the color of truth to Mr. Greeley's description of the Democratic party.

THE REBELS FOR GREELEY.

It does seem that Mr. Greeley is to be endorsed by Satan and all that is wrong and ruinous. Men who declared for the rebellion and for the dissolution of the Union twelve years ago, and are still impenitent and persistent in doing wrong, breaking up the Union and ruining the country, endorse Greeley because they know he never had a fixed principle that he would not give up and lay on the shelf, right or wrong, for the sake of a little applause and a dim prospect of honor and elevation to office.

A man without a just appreciation of right and wrong. One day on the right and the next on the wrong. Conscienceless and heartless is such a man, and is just as likely to cry on to wreck and ruin as on to safety and prosperity.

Such fellows as Judas Iscariot and Jefferson Davis move him to pity, and he reaches out his hand to help them.—But honest merit, fidelity and patriotism in distress never touch his breast nor reach his feelings so as to cause him to extend a helping hand or afford relief. Where there is most wrong-doing, bad feeling and turpitude of crime, there his sympathies are enlisted lest these should meet their just doom and be crushed out from the face of the earth.

Such a man is Horace Greeley for President! Sooner let the sky fall, or the direst ravages of an earthquake visit our land. Some men who now support him may have been patriots and actuated by right feelings, sometime, in the course of their lives; but surely they are wrong now, and ready to rush headlong into ruin, not for themselves alone, but for their country.

The same old feeling of mischief that prompted Greeley to advocate the dissolution of the Union previous to the rebellion, actuates him now. Reckless of consequences, he seeks not the peace and prosperity of his country, nor its honor and glory, but rather to see rebels rule, and ruin prevail.

And we believe that those who support him, and who are now so busy just feeling of right, and are no better than their pliant tool, that they are moulding, as potter's clay to suit their purposes and accomplish their ends.—High tariff, or low tariff, heavy taxes or none at all, liberty or slavery, freedom or oppression will be all the same in the horrible vortex of ruin into which he would rush the ship of state, guided by rebel heads and rebel hands. Republicans of Centre, we advise you to stand by the old iron clad, U. S. Grant.

THE UNHAPPY FAMILY.

It has leaked out the assistant Democrats, alias soreheads, alias Liberal Republicans, are in, as Horace would say, "a d—l of a mess generally." They are without harmony, no two men sore in the same place nor to the same extent, and as the disease varies they each want to apply a different remedy.

One plan of proceeding is, to gather all the disappointed office-seekers. Another, to get together all who have failed to log-roll their fraudulent claims through Congress. Then comes the men who did not conquer Cuba. Fourthly, those who have not been appreciated by the people of their Districts, and so on to the end of the chapter, the effort being to mass and unite all the dissatisfied elements in the country, and, as might be expected, discord and dissatisfaction are uppermost in every convulse.

It is hard to say whether the lobby or regulars will win. They are a nice set and occupied mainly in harmonizing themselves. They would have fallen to pieces before this time, but for the Democracy who still promise aid and comfort. So hungry, dilapidated and discordant a company never before attempted the formation of a National party upon so little capital.

Their whole stock in trade, is disappointment and defeat. These are the burden of their song. Their food by day, their lodging by night. Small capital, indeed, but greater than they can manage with profit to themselves or advantage to their friends. As to their country they care nothing about it. If the Democracy does not come to them, they must go to the Democracy. We think since the meeting of the Reading Convention the Democracy is preparing to go to them. The Baltimore Convention will tell the tale. A happy family they will make.

One of the four Republican papers in New York that support Greeley—its name was the Ayraca Chief—gave up the ghost and died last week for want of patronage. "Leaf by leaf the roses fall."

CAMPAIGN IN PENNSYLVANIA.

The people of Pennsylvania (says the Miners' Journal) are but slightly affected by the persistent hostility manifested by a comparatively few disaffected men and journals against the Republican State ticket. This is so because the people fail to see any ground for this hostility. If something tangible could be adduced against the moral worth or capacity of any of the candidates upon the State ticket—if some principle were advocated—it would be different. But such is not the case. The ticket is generally recognized as a strong one. The candidates, if elected, will carry out the policy which has marked the present Republican State Administration—reduction of the State debt, lessening of taxation, and crushing of rings formed to plunder the State Treasury. The platform upon which they stand pledges them to a continuation of this work, which the people require.

Those in this State who oppose the State ticket, while professing to advocate the re-election of President Grant, say that that ticket can be defeated in October, and yet the State be carried for Grant in November. We observe that this idea is still promulgated as if such results were possible. Those who assert it are either ignorant of the political history of Pennsylvania, or they deliberately insult the intelligence of its citizens. It is well known that invariably as this State goes at the State election in October, so it goes at the Presidential election in the following November. The party defeated at the first election becomes disheartened and indifferent, and permits the second to go pretty much by default.

Such would inevitably be the result the coming Fall in case General Grant should be defeated at the October election. The State would, in November, cast its electoral vote against Gen. Grant, not because a majority of the people are not favorable to him, but simply because it is a remarkable fact not brought up a solid mass to the polls in November. Under this state of facts we contend, and reasonably, that each professing Republican journal which continues its opposition to the election of General Grant, with no just nor reasonable ground upon which to base its hostility, is practically working against the re-election of President Grant. In this light its course will be classed among the enemies of Republican principles. Should such a paper lose its circulation—as some have already—and consequently, its standing and influence, who would say that such a fate is undeserved?

This is the only outward feature of the present campaign in Pennsylvania. The course of prominent men like Schurz and Trumbull, and of journals like the New York Tribune, outside of the State, in opposing on selfish and personal grounds, the administration of President Grant, and his re-election to the Presidency, has hardly created a ripple of excitement on the current of popular sentiment in Pennsylvania. We know of very little, hardly any, dissatisfaction in this section of Pennsylvania, and such is the case generally throughout the State.

It is true that Pennsylvania was represented in the Cincinnati convention, but what prominent and influential Republicans of the State were present as delegates? The general character in these respects of the delegation may be judged from its leader, A. K. McClure, who promised the Grant men of his district when he ran for Senator, that he would not oppose General Grant, and who having proved false to his pledges, besides acting with the Democracy in the Senate at the close of the Legislature is repudiated by the Republicans of his district. The majority of the people of this State are firm in their Republican faith, and we believe that notwithstanding the anomalous course of a few papers and would-be leaders, that they will elect the State ticket in October, the prelude to a glorious victory in November.

CONSOLING.—Theodore Tilton in his Golden Age soothingly says to the disappointed women who sought recognition by the Cincinnati Convention, that if those Territories in which women are legal voters had been represented by women, they would have been received on an equal footing with the other delegates.

DICK CIGARETTES, one of the most popular men of Illinois, will be the next Republican Governor of that State.

Sumner—How He Makes History.

HIS STANTON STORY!

The Slander Nailed!

(From the Philadelphia Bulletin, June 1st, 1872.)

Mr. Sumner, in his attack on President Grant, last evening, made the following assertion, in his account of an interview with Hon. Edwin M. Stanton, a short time before his death:

"I followed by saying, 'But you took part in the Presidential election, and made a succession of speeches for him in Ohio and Pennsylvania? I spoke, said he, but I never introduced the name of General Grant; I spoke for the Republican party and the Republican cause.'"

THE FALSEHOOD EXPOSED.

Nobody ever accused Mr. Stanton of falsehood, and that he never told Mr. Sumner anything of the kind that he quotes, is fortunately proved by the record. Everybody in Philadelphia remembers Mr. Stanton's great speech at the Academy of Music, just before President Grant's election, and the following extracts show the complete falsity of Mr. Sumner's testimony:

MR. STANTON'S SPEECH.

Ladies and Gentlemen, Fellow-citizens of Philadelphia:—This mighty concourse, the largest that my eyes ever beheld, is significant of two things: First, it is a judgment in favor of Ulysses S. Grant. * * * Upon the election next Tuesday, the 3rd of November, I behold the rock of our national safety; and upon the triumph of the banner which is held in the hands of Ulysses S. Grant, I behold the victory of the principles of freedom and of just government, now, and in all time.

Why then, fellow-citizens, have you this night passed judgment in favor of Ulysses S. Grant and against Horatio Seymour? The first reason is from the persons who put them in nomination before the people, and who are now up- Presidency of the United States. They met in New York a short time ago; and who were they? They were red-handed rebels, prisoners of war to the United States, they and their associates. These are the men who put in nomination Horatio Seymour. Who put in nomination Ulysses S. Grant? The great Republican party that bore this nation triumphantly through the war, under the Divine blessing, amid the trials and dangers and all the vicissitudes of the great war that we have just passed through. He was nominated by the great Republican party. The first reason, then, why we should prefer Grant, on next Tuesday, to Seymour, is to be found in the organization and persons who placed them in nomination, and in those whom they represent. Grant represents the loyal heart of America; Seymour is a traveling agent of Wade Hampton, and Forrest.

Another reason for your judgment is to be found in the merits of the persons themselves. In Grant we behold the leader of our armies in the path of victory. [Applause.] In Grant we behold the great General who, under Divine Providence, led our armies, supported as they were by some of these who are here before you to-night. The same gallant general who, assisted by your present Governor, John W. Geary, and aided by your late Governor, Andrew G. Curtin, here at home, in the executive council and State administration, led you onward from the Mississippi to the Potomac eastward, until no rebel flag polluted the gale on this continent. These then are reasons which fully justify the choice which you will make next Tuesday; but these reasons are denied by others, and chiefly by the agent, representative of Forrest and of Hampton, who has recently been traversing this continent for one thousand miles, giving reasons why Grant should not be elected, and why the banner of the Union, dishonored and inglorious, should be entrusted to his hands.

The mistakes mentioned are, Seymour says, "the mistakes of the Republican party." What then, has General Grant got to do with them? [Cheers for Grant.] While Congress may have made mistakes, if you please, without number—day by day made mistakes—Grant was before the enemy's face fighting him; he was taking no surrender, except that it was "Unconditional!" [Applause.] No terms left his lips but "Unconditional surrender" of the enemy of his country.

Upon the 4th day of July, 1863, notwithstanding the conduct of Horatio Seymour, the son of our country's glory burst forth in splendor through the dark cloud of rebellion that had for some years overshadowed it, and the baleful exhalations of treason were scattered.—Do your duty next Tuesday, and the sun of our political glory will shine as brightly and with as great a lustre as it shone on the day of the 4th of July at Vicksburg and at Gettysburg. [Applause.] Vote against Grant, and the darkness and gloom that will settle over this country like the pall of midnight will settle deeper and deeper over the land, over its prosperity, over all the elements of national power, over all the elements of national honor, over all the elements of national strength, and the greatest calamity that ever befel a people will happen. May Divine Providence avert that catastrophe!

ements of national power, over all the elements of national honor, over all the elements of national strength, and the greatest calamity that ever befel a people will happen. May Divine Providence avert that catastrophe!

STILL MORE TESTIMONY.

On the same night, Mr. Stanton was serenaded at the Union League, and spoke as follows:

"Fellow-Citizens:—Gen. Grant never looked upon an army of the enemy of his country but to conquer it. [Applause.] He never sat down before a rebel stronghold to besiege it, but it fell before him. The same arm that supported him at the head of his army, and the gallant troops that followed him will continue to uphold and support him, because he represents the great American Heart; and the triumphs that have been won by the physical armies, will be more than repaid, thrice repaid, by the glorious victory of next Tuesday."

It is a fortunate thing that the dead Secretary has left out of the power of the living Senator to belie him.

THE PUBLIC CHEESE.

In the same speech, Mr. Stanton described Seymour in words that become prophetic in their application to Sumner, when he said:

"His path, then, has been a path of accusation; it has been a path of fault-finding; it has been a path of the rat, gnawing to get a nibble at the public cheese, and nothing else."

LETTER FROM CLEARFIELD.

AN OLD LUMBERMAN IS PUZZLED OVER THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE EXCHANGE.—HE CAN'T SEE WHAT THE LEADING SPIRITS ARE AIMING AT—HAVE THEY PRIVATE AXES TO GRIND?—GRAVE SUSPICIONS THAT THERE IS SOMETHING WRONG.

CLEARFIELD, May 25, 1872.

EDITORS GAZETTE AND BULLETIN:—I have just finished reading the proceedings of the first regular meeting of the Lumbermen's Exchange in your city, and I must confess that I am puzzled to understand what leading spirits are aiming at. When the movement for the organization of an Exchange was first set on foot, I gave it my cordial support, believing that if its alleged objects were attained, it would be a benefit to the lumber trade. But to my utter surprise I find that there is something underlying the movement which indicates ulterior objects—something that is calculated to cast suspicion on the organization and bring it into disrepute with dealers throughout the State.

Certain leading members seem to have devoted much time to attacking private individuals—hinting at political movements, and other mysterious things. Now, this is all wrong, in my opinion, and I am glad to see that Mr. Armstrong gravely cautioned the members against establishing a precedent that might prove dangerous in the end. Attacking members of the Legislature, either directly or indirectly, in a body of this kind, is wholly uncalled for and entirely foreign to the objects of an Exchange. But, notwithstanding the judicious and sound advice of M. A., the conduct of certain members foreshadows something that is calculated to create suspicion and ultimately work to the disadvantage of the organization. Have they private axes to grind at the expense of us smaller manufacturers? Are we to be assessed for the purpose of raising a fund to support a few in their efforts to gratify private grievances? Must the lumbermen of Clearfield and adjoining counties pay tribute to certain rich firms under the guise of having our interests promoted by belonging to what they are pleased to call an Exchange? I have been a lumberman for over twenty years and always managed to get along smoothly in my business without being bound up with stringent rules and regulations.

I also notice that the spokesmen had much to say about a boom monopoly. Now, I never was favorably disposed towards the erection of booms in the river, as they interfere with rafting to some extent; but as they have become permanent fixtures, and have conferred advantages on manufacturers that they could not afford to dispense with, I am disposed to waive my objections. The cry about extravagant charges for boomage is all stuff. Were the price reduced one half I doubt whether those who are loudest in their denunciations would reduce the price of their lumber one farthing. They would insist on the highest price and the consumer would be no better off than he is now.

I must confess that I am disappointed, and like many others in this county, feel that an effort is to be made to use us for the advancement of the private ends of a few individuals. No mutual benefit can be derived from an organization when its objects are perverted. Distrust and suspicion will soon work its ruin. And as there evidently is something wrong, I am not surprised to find a growing suspicion in the minds of many, who joined in good faith, that they have been sold.

THE WAIL OF A BOY.—A venerable Kentucky Democrat, sorely oppressed with grief at the thought of voting for Greeley, gives vent to his feelings in the following pathetic strain:

"I'm getting old; I can't last long. I will soon step into the grave. I don't want to go to the other world and meet our old Democratic neighbors and tell em I wound up my life by votin' for a man who has abused our party all his days, and to those infamous teachings more than to those of any other man living we owe the sad, sad, weeping days of fire and sword, and desolation and ruin of the past twelve years!"

HOPE AND AN APPEAL.

The Liberal movement is stirring up the old copperhead wing of the Democratic party everywhere throughout our broad domain. They do not like Greeley and declare they will not swallow him. Hon. Daniel W. Voorhees one of the leaders of this wing of the party, concluded his speech at Terre Haute,
recently, as follows:

"I have high hopes of the wisdom and integrity of the convention to assemble at Baltimore. I do not believe such a disaster can befall us as the nomination of Greeley. I believe honor and principle will prevail.

If, however, it should happen otherwise, and I should be laid away in my political grave, alongside of the dear old party for whom I have fought a hundred battles and never one against her, all I ask of you, my constituents, whom I have known and loved so long, is to write on my tombstone—

He fought the fight and kept the faith, it is the high privilege and duty of the this object. Adopted.

children gathered in, 410,000 Christian men and women secured as teachers,

This work has reached many of the desolate and neglected places in various

SENATOR SCOTT AND GENERAL GORDON.

GENERAL GORDON ATTACKS SENATOR
SCOTT AND GETS THE WORST OF IT—
SENATOR SCOTT COMPLETELY VINDI-CATED—WHAT GEN. GORDON KNOWS ABOUT KU-KLUX—HE DON'T TELL ALL
HE KNOWS, THOUGH PRESSED TO DO SO BY THE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.

(From the Washington Chronicle, May 29th.)

In a letter addressed to Senator Scott, of Pennsylvania, by General John B.
Gordon, of Georgia, dated New York, May 20, 1872, and published in the Washington Daily Patriot of May 23,
he says:

"My attention has been called to some remarks made by you in the United States Senate, on Friday, the 17th instant, in which you allege that 'General John B. Gordon, of Georgia, was among the organizers and earliest leaders of the Ku klux.'"

General Gordon charges that in this statement, which he attributes to Senator Scott, he (Gordon) has been "willfully misrepresented."

Now to the record, and let us see if this allegation of the General is correct.

In General Gordon's testimony, pages 308 and 321 we find the following:

Question. What do you know of any combinations in Georgia known as Ku-klux, or any other name, who have been violating law?

Answer. I know that an organization did exist in Georgia at one time. I know that in 1868—I think that was the time —I was approached and asked to attach myself to a secret organization in Georgia.

Question. Did those that you knew as members of this association all belong to one council?

Answer. No, sir.

Question. They had different councils?

Answer. I do not know exactly what you mean by "councils." They had some sort of means of controlling the organization in the different localities.
There were certain men who were selected to keep the peace in certain neighborhoods.

Question. To control certain localities?

Answer. Yes, sir; but there was never any effort, within my knowledge, to use the organization for any political purpose, or to connect it with politics at all. And while I am not going to state what my position was in that particular organization, I will say that I certainly would have known if there had been any such effort or purpose.

There, in the testimony of General Gordon, is the virtual admission of his having belonged to a secret association or brotherhood, organized in the State of Georgia, as stated by himself: "In 1868—I think that was the time—I was approached and asked to attach myself to a secret organization in Georgia."

In the views of the minority of the committee, over the signatures of Senators Blair and Bayard, and Representatives Cox, Beck, Van Trump, Waddell, Robinson, and Hanks, is the following:
"Perhaps the men who knew more about the formation of what has come to be familiarly known as the Ku klux organization than any others were General N. B. Forrest, of Tennessee, and General John B. Gordon, of Georgia."

In answer to Senator Blair, Senator Scott stated, in substance, that which he had previously said in relation to General Gordon's connection with
"what has come to be familiarly known as the Ku klux organization," in the following language:

"Mr. Scott. I had not stated that the minority of the committee said they were connected with the outrages. I have said that the minority of the committee admit that they know more about the organization of what is known as the Ku klux than any other two men. I know that a different purpose is attributed to it by these men; but I point the public to the fact that both Gordon and Forrest refused to tell all they knew.—
Honest men with honest purposes associated with honest fellows, when a public investigation of this character charging these offences was going on, would not shrink back and refuse to tell what they knew, or who were their associates."

But "who are N. B. Forrest and John B. Gordon?"

Senator Scott gives the emphatic answer to this interrogatory as follows:

"I suppose that for political purposes
I could give them no higher endorsement than to state that they were both delegates at large from their respective States of Tennessee and Georgia in the Democratic national convention of 1868, and in addition to that, J. B. Gordon was the commander of the left wing of Lee's army at the time of the surrender."

But there is a second count in General Gordon's indictment of Senator Scott.
He says:

"You sought, in furtherance of the political object which is apparent throughout your remarks, still to impress the idea that General Gordon refused to tell all he knew upon the subject."

Let us again to the record, that we may ascertain if General Gordon freely answered all questions put to him, or whether he did not successfully evade an answer to the interrogatory as to his associates in the secret organization of which he was a member. The following can be found on pages 322, 323, 324

and 341 of the Georgia testimony.

Question. Can you give us the names of some men who would be likely to know more about the organization than you do; some men who have been in their councils?

Answer. No, sir; I would not feel at liberty to do that, though I do not think they would object in the least.

Question. Why, then, do you not feel at liberty to do it?

Answer. I will tell you. My opinion is that nobody knows anything more about it than I do; I think I know all about it."

Question. You reside in the city of Atlanta?

Answer. Yes, sir; just out of the city; my office is in town.

Question. Do you know of no gentleman whose name you would feel at liberty to give, who was connected with the order in some locality away from the city?

Answer. No, sir; I would rather not.

Question. The organization might not be the same thing out in the country that it was just about Atlanta?

Answer. I reckon that it was. I had communications with persons all about;
I have talked with them since, and I did during the existence of the thing.

The Chairman (Mr. Pool) submitted to the committee the question whether the witness should be required to give the names of other persons whom he knew to have belonged to the organization; and the committee decided that the question should be answered.

Notwithstanding this decision of the committee, General Gordon did not give the name of any one who was known to him to have been a member of the organization. He evaded answers.

Subsequently to the decision of the committee, that the witness must answer, General Gordon attempted to avoid divulging his own official connection with the organization, as will be perceived from the following:

Question. In regard to holding what office were you spoken to?

Answer. I do not know that it is necessary to answer that question unless you insist upon an answer.

Question. I insist upon an answer.
Answer. I was spoken to as the chief of the State. I said very emphatically that upon that line I could be called on if it was necessary.

Senator Scott, while addressing the Senate on the occasion referred to by General Gordon, was interrupted by Senator Blair, who sought to shield his friend in this manner:

Mr. Blair. The Senator will oblige me very much if he will point to that portion of the testimony in which General Gordon declined to tell all he knew about it. I think he will find no such thing.

Mr. Scott. I do not propose now to be diverted from the line of remark I have adopted, and turn over and find the place in these eight thousand pages of testimony where that occurs, but as the Senator desires it, at a future time I shall give him the place, page and substance of the testimony of both Forrest and Gordon to show that they did refuse to tell all they knew.

Mr. Blair. The Senator is somewhat incorrect in his statement. He says he does not propose to be diverted. He does not propose to be brought to the proof which he pretends to present to the Senate.

Mr. Scott. No, Mr. President, I said that in the testimony of N. B. Forrest and John B. Gordon it did appear, and it does appear, that they both refused to answer questions of the committee.—
General Forrest was asked to tell the names of the persons who were associated with him, and he declined, and he was given time to think of it, and he never would. I was not present at the examination of Gordon, but I read his testimony. So far from refusing to come to the point, I promise the Senator that I will bring here the page and the book, and show him where both refused to do so.

Mr. Blair. Let us have it.

Mr. Scott. The Senator shall have it at the proper time.

Those who have not read the eight thousand pages of Ku klux testimony in detail will see by this that General Gordon's assertion, in the Patriot letter, that Senator Scott had misrepresented him in debate is without any foundation whatever. Outside of the two specific charges here referred to and refuted, the letter of General Gordon is a mere tirade of abuse that carries with it its own refutation, and is entirely harmless, so far as Senator Scott is concerned. If the General is satisfied with his production, Senator Scott and his friends should certainly be.

A DIRECT INSULT TO NATURALIZED
CITIZENS.—Ex-Judge Geo. W. Woodward, now of Philadelphia, but lately of Luzerne, which he left after being defeated for President Judge, in that strong Democratic county which can give 3000 majority, by over two thousand majority, has been nominated by the Democratic Convention for the Constitutional Convention.

This same Judge was a prominent delegate to the convention which framed the present constitution, and in that body took an active part to deprive adopted citizens of their acquired rights.

He was in part the founder of the old

GRAPE VINES KILLED.—Further proof of the unusual severity of the past winter, (if any was wanting,) is found in the fact that a large number of grape vines were killed by the frost. In this city a number of fine large vines of choice varieties were killed, while we hear of the same loss in different sections in the country around. Old vines seem to have suffered more than young ones. In some cases, however, the vine has not been killed down close to the ground, and these are throwing out new shoots which may in a few years bear as well as the old vine.—Gazette & Bulletin.

The vines throughout this county are generally killed down to the roots. We have eleven, 80 killed; but they are, sprouting nicely from the roots. Some of the new shoots have already grown from six to seven feet.

"A QUEER SCHOOL MA'AM."—A little girl in the South, old enough to attend school, had never heard a prayer. A missionary persuaded her to go to a Union Sunday-school he had recently started, and which was conducted by a lady. When the little girl saw the school was opened with singing and prayer, she slipped out and ran home, saying, "Mother, mother, we've got the queerest school marm you ever saw or heard of. She sings songs and speaks peices in school, and the fun of it is, she gets right down on her knees when she speaks her peices."

The Sunday-School Union might find work for a few more of its pioneer missionaries in that region.

Help Yourself.

Fight your own battles. Hoe your own row. Ask no favors of any one, and you will succeed five thousand times better than one who is always beseeching some one's influence or patronage. No one will ever help you as you can help yourself, because no one will ever be so heartily interested in your affairs. The first step will not be such a long one, perhaps carving your own way up the mountain, you make each one lead to another, and stand firm to that while you chop still another out. Men who have made fortunes are not those who have had five thousand given them to start with; but boys who have started fair with a well earned dollar or two. Men who have acquired fame have never been thrust into popularity by puffs begged or paid for, or given in friendly spirit. They have outstretched their own hands and touched the public heart. Men who win love do their own wooing, and I never knew a man to fail so signally as one who induced his affectionate grandmama to speak a good word for him. Whether you work for fame, for love, for money, or anything else, work with your hands, and heart and brain. Say "I will," and some day you will conquer. Never let any man have it to say, "I have dragged you up." Too many friends sometimes hurt a man more than none at all.

As for women, this applies to them as well. A woman who fights her way upwards always succeeds. Begin by saying, "I'm as good as anybody, if not a little better." Don't say it loud, but act it. You can teach a school, or start a manufactory, or paint or scribble, and live by it as well as the best man, if only you know your forte, and do not botch up the very thing you have no genius for. Shut up your troubles and your embarrassments in your own heart. Ask no man to help you because you are a woman, and your first success, achieved by your hands, will be so sweet that you shall hardly have words in which to speak of it. Ask help of heaven often—you will be heard; but of man as seldom as you can. I never saw the words, "She helped herself," written on a woman's tombstone by way of eulogy. But I should like to have it truthfully engraved upon mine at least. I should like to deserve it.—Grace Greenwood BROKEN HEARTS.—To a man, the disappointment of love may occasion some bitter pang; it wounds some feelings of tenderness—it blasts some prospects of felicity; but he is an active being—he may dissipate his thoughts in the whirl of varied occupation, or may plunge into the tide of pleasure. But woman's is comparatively a fixed, a secluded, and a meditative life. She is more the companion of her own thoughts and feelings; and if they are turned to ministers of sorrow, where shall she look for consolation? Her lot is to be wooed and won; and if unhappy in her love, her heart is like some fortress that has been captured, and sacked, and abandoned and left desolate.

A FRENCH chemist asserts that if tea be ground like coffee before hot water is poured upon it, it will yield nearly double the amount of its exhilarating qualities. Another writer says; If you put a piece of lump sugar, the size of a walnut into a teapot, you will make tea infuse in half the time.

Decidedly Good.

Will Carleton, the rising young poet, in an editorial poem, tells how a farmer took a youngster of his to a printing office to be made into an editor, being fit for nothing else.

The editor sat in his sanctum, and looked the old man in the eye.

Then glanced at the grinning young hopeful, and mournfully made his reply:

"Is your son a small unbound edition of Moses and Solomon both?"

Can he compass his spirit with meekness, and strangle a natural oath?

Can he leave all his wrongs to the future, and carry his heart in his cheek?

Can he do an hour's work in a minute, and live on sixpence a week?

Can he courteously talk to an equal and brobreat an impudent dunce?

Can he keep his things in apple-pie order, and do half a dozen at once?

Can he press all the springs of knowledge with a quick and reliable touch?

And be sure that he knows how to much to know, and knows how to not know too much?

Does he know how to stir up his virtue, and put a check rein on his pride?

Can he carry a gentleman's manners within a rhinoceros's hide?

Can he know all, and do all, and be all, with cheerfulness, courage and vim?

If so, we perhaps can make an editor out of him."

The farmer stood curiously listening, while wonder his visage o'er-spread;

And he said, "Jim, I guess we'll be goin' he's probably out of his head."

THE OFFENDED DANDY.—In the Park the other day a gentleman was promenading, accompanied by a magnificent greyhound, while just in advance of him walked a well known dandy. The gentleman called "Bruno!" Bruno!

The dandy stopped and looked around, but not knowing the gentleman, quickly resumed his walk. Again the gentleman called: "Here Bruno—come here!" Upon this the dandy turned and angrily demanded:

"What is your pleasure, sir?"

"With you—nothing."

"Then how dare you, not knowing me, thus address me on a public promenade?"

"Pray, sir—if I may ask—what is your name?"

"How, sir? Do you wish to insult me?"

"But will you please give me your name?" quietly pleaded the owner of the greyhound.

"There is my card, sir!" And the dandy handed forth a slip of paste-board.

"Why," said the gentleman, reading aloud the letters upon the card, this is Brunow. You need borrow no further trouble, sir. My dog spells his name without the w!"

THE first blood shed between the French and English in the seven years' struggle before the commencement of the Revolutionary war, on this continent was in Fayette county, Pennsylvania, on the 18th of May 1754, about three hundred yards southwest of Dunbar spring. Here the French were encamped in a deep glen, where they had put up temporary cabins. At this point Washington arranged his company in two divisions, and so effectually surprised them that few of their number escaped.

SIDNEY Smith did not rank the Scotch among those who require the aid of a surgical operation to get a joke through their heads. Quite the contrary. He told Robert Chambers: "You are an immensely funny people, but you need a little operating upon to let the fun out. I know no instrument so effectual for that purpose as the cork-screw."

COME TO HAND.—A lady friend of our acquaintance, who has a pretty hand, is anxious to learn whether people are more liable than common to "burn their fingers" if they happen to be taper ones. We cannot say, but have advised her not to let a spark get at them.

"But, father, you know love makes time fly," said an enthusiastic daughter who was arguing in favor of a longer bridal trip than usual.

"Yes, my dear, I know it does at first; but you'll find that in the end time will make love fly."

"You seem to walk more erect than usual, my dear friend."

"Yes; have lately been straightened by circumstances."

AN APPEAL!

To Debilitated Persons, & Dispeptics, To suffer from Liver Complaint, To those having no Appetite, To those with broken down Constitutions To Nervous People,

To Children Wasting Away, To any with debilitated digestive Organs Or suffering with any of the following Symptoms, which indicate Disordered Stomach or Liver, such as Constipation, Inward Piles, Fullness or Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Flatulence, Fullness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at Pit of the Stomach, Swallowing of the Food, Indigestion, Extraneous or Unpleasant Sensations when in a Lying Posture, Dizziness of the Head, Headaches, Vertigo, Sudden Flashes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginations of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.

Hooftland's German Bitters. A Bitter without Alcohol or Spirit of any kind. Is different from all others. It is composed of the pure Juices, or VITAL PRINCIPLE OF ROOTS, HERBS, and BARKS, (or, as medicinal terms, Extracts) the worthless or inert portions of the ingredients not being used. Therefore in each Bottle of this Bitters there is contained as much medicinal virtue as will be found in several bottles of ordinary Bitters. The Roots, &c., used in this Bitters are grown in Germany, their vital principles extracted in that country by a scientific Chemist, and forwarded to the manufacturer in this city, when they are compounded and bottled. Containing no spirituous ingredients, this Bitters is free from the objections urged against all others; no desire for stimulants can be induced from their use, they cannot make drunkards, and cannot under any circumstances, have any but a beneficial effect.

Hooftland's German Tonic. Was compounded for those not inclined to extreme bitters, and is intended for use in cases where some tonic stimulant is required in connection with the Bitters. Each bottle of the tonic contains one bottle of the Bitters, combined with pure SANTA CRUZ RUM, and flavored in such a manner that the extreme bitterness of the Bitters is overcome forming a preparation highly agreeable and pleasant to the palate, and containing the medicinal virtues of the Bitters. The price of the Tonic is $1.00 per Bottle, which many persons think too high. They must take into consideration that the stimulant used is guaranteed to be of a pure quality. The Tonic is so far from being a cheap preparation, but is not better to pay a little more and have a good article! A medicinal preparation should contain none but the best ingredients, and they who expect to obtain a cheap compound, and are benefited by it, will most certainly be cheated.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS, OR HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC, WITH HOOFLAND'S Podophyllin Pill, WILL CURE YOU.

They are the Greatest BLOOD PURIFIERS. Known to the Medical world and will eradicate diseases arising from impure blood, Debility of the Digestive Organs, or Diseased Liver, in a shorter time than any other known remedies.

The whole Supreme Court of Pennsylvania SPEAK FOR THESE REMEDIES. Who would ask for more Dignified or Stronger Testimony?

HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD, formerly Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania at present Member of Congress from Pennsylvania, writes:

PHILADELPHIA, March 16, 1871. I find "Hooftland's German Bitters" to be a useful medicine in cases of indigestion, and of great benefit in case of debility and want of nervous action in the system. Yours truly, GEO. W. WOODWARD.

HON. JAS. THOMPSON, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, writes:

PHILADELPHIA, April 28, 1867. I consider "Hooftland's German Bitters" a valuable medicine in cases of indigestion, and of great benefit in case of debility and want of nervous action in the system. Yours truly, JAS. THOMPSON.

HON. GEORGE SHALESWOOD, Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, writes:

PHILADELPHIA, June 1, 1868. I have found by experience that "Hooftland's German Bitters" is a very good tonic, relieving dyspeptic symptoms almost directly. GEORGE SHALESWOOD.

HON. JAS. M. WOOD, Ex-Mayor of Williamsport, Pa., writes:

I take great pleasure in recommending "Hooftland's German Tonic" to any one who may be afflicted with Dyspepsia. I had the Dyspepsia so badly it was impossible to keep any food on my stomach. I began to use it, and in a short time to walk half a mile. Two bottles of Tonic effected a perfect cure. JAMES M. WOOD.

REMEMBER THAT HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS, AND HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC, Will Cure every Case of MARASMUS. Or Wasting away of the Body.

REMEMBER THAT HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES Are the medicines you require to purify the Blood, and enable you to pass safely through any hardships or exposure.

DR. HOOFLAND'S PODOPHYLLIN, Or Substitute for Mercury Pills. TWO PILLS A DOSE. The Most Powerful, Yet Innocent Vegetable Cathartic Known.

It is not necessary to take a handful of these Pills to produce the desired effect; two of them act quickly and powerfully, cleansing the Liver, Stomach and Bowels of all impurities. The principal ingredient is Podophyllin, or the Alcoholic Extract of Mandrake, which is by many times more powerful, acting and searching than the Mandrake itself. Its peculiar action is upon the Liver, clearing it especially from all obstructions, and the power of Mercury, yet free from the injurious results attached to the use of that mineral.

For all diseases, in which the use of a cathartic is indicated, these pills will give entire satisfaction in every case. They NEVER FAIL.

In cases of Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, the Bitters or Tonic and Podophyllin should be used in connection with the Pills. The Tonic effect of the Bitters or Tonic builds up the system. The Bitters or Tonic purifies the Blood, strengthens the Nerves, regulates the Liver, and gives strength, energy and vigor.

Keep your Bowels active with the Pills, and tone up the system with Bitters or Tonic, and no disease can remain a hold, or ever assail you. Remember that it is DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES that are so universally used and highly recommended; and do not allow the Druggist to induce you to take anything else that he may say is just as good, because he makes a large profit on it. These Remedies will be sent by Express to any locality, upon application to the PRINCIPAL OFFICE, at the GERMANY MEDICINE STORE, 331 Arch St., Philadelphia.

CHARLES M. EVANS, PROPRIETOR. Formerly C. M. JACKSON & CO. These Remedies are for Sale by Druggists, Storekeepers, and Medicine Dealers everywhere.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures of many of which are truly marvellous. Incurable cases of Scrofulous disease, the blood being the seat of the symptom seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this disease and its attendant, the organs underneath the constitution, and invites the attacks of embolism or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it exerts its influence throughout the body, and then on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter case, it may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcers on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of the Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints, generally find immediate relief, and at length cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetters, Salt Rheum, Itch Head, Ringworms, Sore Ears, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the mucous and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obdurate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Lycorrhea or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis.

Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulated extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion of Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are LAMBLING and dependent, Stomach and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

THE NEW-YORK TIMES.

A POLITICAL, LITERARY AND MISCELLANEOUS NEWSPAPER.

THE NEW-YORK TIMES.—started in September, 1851,—has for many years been recognized as among the most successful, popular, and influential newspapers in the country. Its proprietors, with greatly increased resources and experience, will spare no pains to extend and strengthen its claims upon the confidence and support of the public.

The Times is a Republican journal, and will be devoted, as in the past, to an intelligent and firm support of the Republican Party. It will sustain, with all its ability, the principles and policy which have rendered the party so justly famous in our history. It will advocate those measures by which the honor, the peace and the prosperity of the nation can be best conserved and promoted. It will vindicate our dignity before foreign nations, and will discountenance any act by which our self respect or our love for republican institutions could be endangered.

The Times desires to be judged by the highest possible standard of journalism. Its EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT will be conducted in a spirit of fairness and impartiality, free alike from personal rancor or undue favoritism, and will be the production of the ablest and most experienced writers upon all the subjects treated. Its CORRESPONDENCE will be full and timely. Its REPORTS will be prepared with the utmost care, and will embrace every fact or public expression of opinion that possesses interest and importance. The LITERARY DEPARTMENT will be in thoroughly capable hands, and will present a full review of the literature, the fine arts, the music, and the drama of the day.

As a family paper, free from all appeals to vulgar or impure tastes, the Times will continue unexceptionable, and may be safely admitted to every domestic circle.

The Sunday edition of the Times will include, in addition to all the news selected and original literary matter of the most varied and agreeable character. Special arrangements have been made to impart new attractions to this feature of the paper.

The WEEKLY and SEMI-WEEKLY editions of the Times will be compiled with the greatest care, and will contain selections from the most important contents of the Daily issue, besides matters of interest to the agricultural sections of the country. All who prefer a newspaper but once or twice a week will find these editions admirably suited to their requirements.

A special edition of the Times for EUROPEAN circulation will be published every Wednesday and Saturday, in time for the European mails, and will be valuable and welcome to our friends abroad, whether Americans or of any nationality than our own.

All these editions of the Times are of the very largest size, on large quarter sheets, each containing fifty-six columns printed in clear and legible type, at the following rates.

Next session begins, Wednesday, September 6th, 1871. For circulars address. Rev. J. P. HUGHES, Principal. v2n28-ly.

We would call the special attention of postmasters and our subscribers to the following synopsis of the newspaper laws:

1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter, returning a paper does not answer the law, when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reasons for its not being taken; and a neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publishers for its payment.
2. Any person who takes a paper from the post-office, whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.
3. If a person orders his paper to be discontinued, he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether it be taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.
4. If the subscriber orders the paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it, if he takes it out of the post-office. The law proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.
5. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them unclaimed for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

BUSINESS.—Remember that the BELLEVILLE REPUBLICAN is the best advertising medium in Centre county. It reaches the greatest number and the most intelligent and wealthy portion of our citizens.

Pic Nic.—The young folks of Rebersburg and vicinity held a pic-nic in the woods of Jno. Wolf, Esq., on Saturday May the 25th. It was largely attended and the young men and maidens enjoyed themselves exceedingly.

LOCUSTS.—The seventeen year locusts are now making their appearance in some parts of the country. In the Northern part of this State the farmers are plowing them up by the millions. Will they be in Centre this year? Who can tell?

SETTLES HIM.—We learn that Mr. Wm T. Alexander of Millheim and Miss Sallie Monck of the same place were recently married. We did not learn when, nor by whom. Why do the Ministers not report every time they tie the marriage knot?

PERSONAL.—E. J. Burkett, of Indianapolis, formerly a resident of Rebersburg, this county, paid our sanctum a visit. He is looking hale and hearty, and is making money in his new home.

—Benj. F. Smeltzer, of Decatur, Ill., also a Centre county man has returned to visit his old home and friends.

FACT.—Hon P. G. Meek says; if the Baltimore Convention will be so recreant to principle as to endorse Greeley, that he will then turn the Watchman into a religious journal, and devote for all future time, his time and great talents (?) to the missionary work. Do not be alarmed Democrats, Meek will do no such thing. There is no stealing in the missionary work. He will swallow Greeley.

SELECT READINGS.—Miss Harriet Newell Morris, who is now in attendance upon the Sessions of the Sabbath School Convention at Millersburg, will, we understand, give one of her celebrated readings, for the benefit of the Centre county Sabbath School Association, at the Wigwam, in Belleville, on Friday Evening next at 8 o'clock. Miss Morris comes with the most flattering testimonials and the unqualified endorsement of some of the best men in the country. We hope a full house may greet her and add to the resource of the very worthy object for the benefit of which the entertainment is given.

JUST.—The Legislature last winter past the following commendable act.

Sec. 1. Be it enacted, &c., That the word "five" shall be inserted in the place of the word "four" in Section 28, Act of May, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-four, and school directors shall hereafter keep the schools of their respective districts in operation five months in the year; Provided, That the length of term may remain as at present in districts where the maximum amount of tax allowed by law to be levied for school purposes shall be found insufficient to keep the schools open a greater length of time.

"This education forms the common mind" and we are really rejoiced to know that the children of our great State will have the benefits of another months school. We hope the time is not far distant, when every school in the State will be open eight months in the year.

IN MEMORIAM.

Decoration Day—How it was Observed.

In pursuance of previous announcement, the members of Post Bayard, No. 90, together with a large number of soldiers met in their Lodge Room in open meeting, at 1 1/2 o'clock. All necessary arrangements having been previously made, the work here, was merely to place in the charge of each comrade and soldier present, a flag, surmounted by a streamer upon which, was printed the soldier's name for whose grave it was intended. The flags, &c., having been distributed, the returned soldiers formed in front of Bush's Arcade, where they received the Undine Fire Co. They then marched to the Diamond, where they opened ranks and received the Sabbath School scholars and teachers of St. John's Catholic church. They then closed ranks, faced about and in the same manner received the teachers and scholars of the M. E. church Sabbath School in front of the office of Messrs. Bush & Yocum. Here the Logan Fire Company was received when the ranks closed and proceeded to the corner of Howard street, where the teachers and scholars of the Sabbath Schools of the Presbyterian church and of St. John's Episcopal church, were received in the same manner. After which they marched a short distance up Howard street, (leading to the Belleville Cemetery,) where they again opened ranks and all the Sabbath School Scholars, teachers, superintendents, ministers and citizens passed through taking the lead of the procession and thus marching to the gate of the cemetery. Here the scholars of the Sabbath Schools opened ranks in turn, and as the returned soldiers passed through, a wreath, or bouquet was placed in the hand of each soldier. The scene was most impressive.

The entire procession, the soldiers in front, then marched into the Cemetery where a hollow square was formed around four of the graves of our fallen heroes, to wit: Lieut. John A. Bayard, after whom the Post is named, Lieut. Jas. B. Cook, Sergt. Stanley Keys and Irwin Keys, father and son, sleeping side by side in soldier graves, until the last trumpet shall bid them come forth to the higher rewards of a never ending Heaven.

The vast audience, consisting, we think, of 2000 people was then, by Post Commander Wm. H. Blair, called to order and the object stated in substance, as follows:

COMRADES AND FRIENDS:—We are now about to decorate with flowers, and honor with fitting ceremonies, the graves of comrades who are buried here, who served with us in defence of our country in her hour of greatest trial.

We meet for no empty show, and have dispensed with all useless parade. We propose to testify in the simplest form possible, that the remembrance of our comrades sacrifices have not grown dim with passing years.

Surely, comrades and friends, it is right, eminently right and proper that we should recall, at least once a year, the unselfish devotion of those who fell that liberty might live, and that the Government bequeathed to us by our fathers might not perish from the earth.

We are not here to glory in the victories of the past, nor to stir up the hot blood by the recital of our comrades valor, or of the bloody fields upon which they bravely fought and nobly fell. We have buried the animosities and hate engendered by the war, and desire to forget all of the past, save what was good of it, only renewing our vows to maintain and support the free institutions and government which our comrades, now so quietly sleeping here, and 300,000 like them, died to save.

So long then as we, year after year, continue to scatter earth's fairest emblems, life's fitting symbol, upon our comrades graves, so long as stalwart men and gentle women and little children continue to strew them with flowers and tell them with their tears, the world will see that the humblest of our patriot dead, have a crown of remembrance brighter and more enduring than the diadem of kings.

In order that no one may suppose that invidious distinctions have been made between the resting places of our deceased comrades, that some have received honors intentionally withheld from others, it is proper to explain that our Memorial Services prescribe the special decoration of FOUR soldiers' graves in honor and memory of ALL, and that we have selected this spot, simply and only because it best meets the requirements of the occasion. As soon as the services connected with these representations have been concluded, it is our purpose to plant over every soldiers remains in each of our four Cemeteries, the flag under which he fought and for which he fell, and we will then invite you all to join in strewing the flowers and evergreens so bountifully furnished by these little boys and girls, over their graves.

Chaplain J. H. Rankin, then made from the Memorial Service the following beautiful and appropriate prayer.

"Almighty and most merciful God, our Heavenly Father, we approach Thee in this hour of mournful and joyful memories, in the name of our Mediator and Redeemer, Jesus Christ, and would devoutly worship Thine excellent Majesty, and meekly implore Thy benedictions to rest richly upon us and our country. The shield of the earth belongs unto Thee, O God; Thou dost according to Thy will in the God of Heaven, and among the inhabitants of the earth. We rejoice before Thee this day, that it hath pleased Thee to raise up this great nation, and to preserve it through great and sore trials, until now in future, we trust, unto us to be full of good fruits in the interests of humanity—such a future as will proclaim the glory of Thy loving kindness in all the earth. We praise Thee, O God, for all Thy gentle dealings to us in the past. We are grieved before Thee, O God, for the promise of manifold and great mercies towards us in days and years to come. And yet, O God, the hope of Israel, the Saviour thereof, in me of trouble, we bow before Thee this day in grief of soul, for how are the mighty fallen! We mourn now in Thy holy presence, over those our comrades in arms, who are no longer with us on earth. We beseech Thee, our Heavenly Father, to bless the offices of love, which we, their surviving brethren, this day perform. Grant that the memory of our brave companions on the march and in the day of battle, who now sleep in death, may be to us, and to our countrymen, beautiful and fragrant like the flowers which we now strew upon their graves. And hear us, O God, when in the presence of these Patriot graves, we cry up to Thee, that the brave men whom we mourn may not be hallowed in vain. May their blood impart new life to the Nation. O God, save our beloved country throughout all the ages of time, and grant that it may be, evermore, exalted before Thee in righteousness. And we earnestly entreat Thee, our Heavenly Father, to undertake the cause of all that are bereaved of fathers, husbands and brothers—who are thus bereaved by the death of our fellow soldiers. Overshadow those lonely and smitten ones with the wing of Thy mercy, and be unto them a present help in every time of trouble. And now, Lord, we beseech Thee to look lovingly upon those who have served and of those who have died for their country. Give unto us and to all the assembly of people here with us, Thy blessing evermore. Guide us unto death, and attending receive us to glory. We ask all for Christ's sake. Amen.

The following beautiful ode was then sung to the ever memorable tune "old hundred." In the singing of which the vast assembly joined

Blest are the martyred dead who lie
In holy graves for freedom won,
Whose storied deeds shall never die,
While coming years their circles run.

Blest be the ground where heroes sleep,
And blest the flag that o'er them waves,
Its radiant stars their watch shall keep,
And brightly beam on hallowed graves.

While Freedom lives, their fame shall live
In glory on her blazing scroll,
And love her sacrifice shall give,
While anthems round the altar roll.

Year after year our hands shall bear
Immortal flowers in vernal bloom,
Till God shall call us home to share
Immortal life beyond the tomb.

Comrade Mullen then advanced and taking a flag and wreath planted the flag and placed the wreath upon one of the graves, said

In memory of the honored and heroic dead, whose remains here find shelter and repose, I deposit these flowers, thinking not of the creed or color, politics, nationality or race, but of the noblest of all, the human soul, which they were patriots who bravely served our duty called. May the lesson of purity which these flowers symbolize, be to us a lesson, and inspire the feelings of patriotism which our comrades showed in life, and exemplified in death.

Comrade Cheeseman then advanced and taking a flag and wreath planted the flag and placed the wreath upon another grave spoke as follows:

"In honor of our comrades slain in Freedom's battle, yielding up their lives in prison-pens, dying in hospitals from wounds or disease, who now sleep in graves far away and unknown, I place these flowers upon this grave. These beautiful flowers will fade, this green mound will be leveled with the plain, but the historic scenes which were here enacted, and the noble deeds of patriotism which our comrades showed in life, and exemplified in death, will never fade from our memory."

Our fathers' God, to thee,
Author of liberty,
To thee we sing;
Long may our land be bright
With Freedom's holy light; Protect us by Thy might,
Great God, our King.

After the singing was concluded Comrade Deschner planted a flag and placed a wreath upon another soldiers grave, with these remarks:

"Death comes to all of us; none shall evade its relentless mandate. The highest potentate and the humblest toiler must at last take their places in the bosom of the earth, and it becomes us all to be ready for the messenger whose summons we must obey."

Our comrades, whose graves are scattered all over the land, wherever our arms were fought; who calmly sleep beneath the waters until the seas give up their dead, or in the quiet hamlets where the sound of the battle all was never heard, died in the performance of the noblest of duties, the defence of their country, and the upholding of its starry banner.

After the close of comrade Deschner's remarks, Chaplain Rankin, taking a wreath, placed it upon another grave and spoke as follows:

Out of Thy infinite mercy, the Father, without whose knowledge not even a sparrow falls to the ground, has removed from us our comrades. May the memory of their actions, and the lesson which should be taught to us, be the highest attributes, and the sweetest signs of that true nobility which raises men to be a little lower than the angels, and in the brow the ineffable marks of the hero.

May wisdom from on high shine into the hearts of our rulers, and so direct all their actions that the voice of the people may honor them; as we to-day, honor these lowly beds of the Country's defenders, and from this silent city of the dead may we carry to our homes, and prove by our actions determination to be true to these charges upon our nations gratitude, to take care of him who has borne the battle, and the Widow and Orphan of him who has fallen. In remembrance, then, of the cause for which our comrades gave the full measure of their true devotion, I place these white flowers upon this grave.

At the sound of the Bugle the soldiers deployed and planted a flag and wreath, and strewed flowers upon the grave of every sleeping soldier. Notwithstanding the rain, they took up the line of march and proceeded to the Catholic Grave yard where they were received by Father McElvaine in a neat, patriotic and appropriate speech, which he was compelled to leave unfinished in consequence of the rain. We hope he will furnish us with a copy. There again notwithstanding the rain, the same services were performed and every grave decorated. A detail was then sent to the new Catholic Cemetery, while the main body unanimously voted, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, to finish this sacred duty by marching to the Friends grave yard, where every grave was decorated the flags planted, and the regular Ceremonies performed.

The following closing ode was then sung:

"In the shadow of thy wings I will make my refuge.—Ps. 57:1.

God bless our native land!
Firm may she ever stand,
Through storm and night;
When the wild tempests rave,
Ruler of winds and waves,
Do thou our country save
By thy great might.

For her our prayer shall rise
To God, above the skies:
On him we wait;
Thou who art ever nigh,
Guarding with watchful eye,
To thee aloud we cry,
God save the state!

The soldiers then disbanded and returned to their homes feeling conscious that they had done a noble duty and paid to their fallen comrades a tribute of respect which they fully merit. Dulce et decorum est pro patria.

For the REPUBLICAN.

POTTER'S MILLS, JUNE 3, 1872

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:—Potter's Mills items are scarce. We have had quite a lively time here, caused by the great rush of people to Smith's for new goods which he has just brought from the city. The Squire has brought a very large and fine selection of goods, consisting of Dry Goods, Groceries, &c., some molasses thrown in to make out the last load. Squire, you must have thought this a very sour community. I don't think the Dr. and W. J. thinks so, especially when they go a little West.

—Every person has heard of "Coffee Pot Wallace." We have a coffee pot man in this place who uses coffee pots for quite a different purpose from that used by the former, viz: He attaches them to the "other end" of cattle that are inclined to try his fences. It scares them and makes some fun as long as the cows get through alive.

—While traveling around the other day, I called to see, I may safely say, the oldest man in the township, and perhaps the oldest man in the county, Mr. William McMinn, who lives a short distance from this place. On conversing with him we find his mind as good as ever it was, by giving him a little time to study. He is 92 years of age, and has always been very strict and temperate in his habits. He has lived the life of a christian and is prepared to meet his God.

—A word about the Presbyterian Sabbath School at this place. We have one of the best Sabbath Schools in the county, not as large as some others, perhaps, but under good discipline. Our officers are in every way qualified for the different positions they occupy. Our Superintendent, Jos. G. Carson, Esq., who has been conducting the school for several years, has displayed considerable talent and energy in using the best and quickest means of having a knowledge of the scripture instilled into the minds of the youth. Our Librarian does his duty faithfully. Of our Treasurer we cannot say so much. We must say he takes good care of all the money he gets. The teachers are in every way qualified to impart instruction to the youth under their care. We elected two delegates at our meeting yesterday to represent the school at the County Convention. Our neighbor, the M. E. Sabbath School will also be represented there.

—Our mutual friends, Messrs. Boozer & Evans, proprietors of the woolen factory will have to build a new house to hold wool, as Brislin is coming.

—Our winter schools closed a short time since. They were taught by Mr. Fredericks and Miss Kate Hewes—both good teachers. A subscription school was raised for Miss Hewes soon after her winter term closed, which shows that the citizens are satisfied with her mode of instructing the youth under her care. We do not know whether she teaches vocal music or not. If she does not she ought to, as no better singers live in this neighborhood.

—We were going to say a few words about our good mechanics in this place, but enough for this time. WILS.

Toothache proceeds from ague in the face, operating upon the exposed nerve of a decayed tooth. Rub the gum thoroughly with the finger, wet with Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, heat the face well, and lap a flannel wet with the liniment on the face, also put a little of the liniment into the cavity of the tooth on cotton.

The system frequently gets out of order and should be at once regulated, else other troubles will ensue; when physic is needed take Parsons' Purgative Pills; they are a safe, wholesome, and natural medicine.

RATIONAL FAITH.—Why have the public such implicit faith in the restorative properties of Hoofland's German Bitters? It is because its history for more than thirty years, has been one unbroken, undisputed record of cures. Dyspepsia, nervous debility, liver disease, kidney affections, and constitutional weakness, yielding to its alterative, vitalizing and purifying properties; while the German Tonic, which contains in addition, a pure diffusive stimulant, works wonders, where a more powerful agent is required. Sold by all Druggists.

NEWS FROM OTHER COUNTIES.

The Clinton Republican of the 29th ult., says:—Hail fell in this city on Monday afternoon last, and as a consequence the atmosphere has been quite cold since.....The Disciple Church, on Church St., is having a cornice put upon it.....Mr. Moyer of Brush Valley had $100 taken from his pocket at Barnum's show. We think it served him right, He ought to know better than to go to a show with so much money in his pocket. Let this be a warning to others.....Huling Thomas lost about $70 between this place and Mill Hall. It is supposed to have been stolen.

Ephraim Pelton lost about $5, and Antis-Harnish the same amount.

—Policeman Waits prevented an accident at the depot by suddenly removing an old lady from the railroad track as an engine was backing towards her. When will people old and young learn to keep off the Railroad track?....St. Paul's Episcopal Church has been refitted and its inner walls calcimined. A new picket fence is being made in front of it. The back fence has been rebuilt, so the general appearance is much improved.....The Republican also says: "If we do not have a flood all the mills will be obliged to shut down by the first of July. The remainder of the logs will be rafted from the boom this week."

BLAIR COUNTY.

The Blair county Radical reports that the Cambria Iron Company have increased the wages of their mines seven cents per ton. This is good news and might be practiced advantageously to the miners elsewhere....Last week two children of A. Hoke, of Huntingdon, aged fifteen months and four years old, died from cholera infantum, produced by eating locust blossoms. On Monday another child was taken ill from the same cause. Locust blossoms are very dangerous and often fatal poisons when eaten and as they are quite pleasant to the taste, parents should be on their guard....On Saturday morning 25th ult. Michael Cassidy, aged about 62 years, and a resident of Logan township, was engaged felling timber near Bell's Mills, and while standing under a tree felling a saw, another tree fell, one of the branches knocking him down, the saw cutting him diagonally across the breast and stomach, killing him almost instantly....On Saturday last a boy named Edward Grindell, of this city, succeeded in jumping off a freight train at Elizabeth Furnace, and succeeded in gashing his head and knee too. This is another warning to boys....The Tyrone "Herald" says: On Friday night last, a man who registered himself at the St. Charles Hotel, Altoona, as Amos Conitt, was found on the porch of the Logan House, prostrate and bleeding. Medical aid was summoned, but the man had evidently determined on death, and the two wounds, one on each arm, were undoubtedly his own work. On his person was found a gold watch and pocket-book containing a pass to the west, and $50 in money.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT, by Centre Lodge, No. 153, I. O. of O. F.

"There's no such thing as death
In nature nothing dies
From each sad remnant of decay
Some forms of life arise."

WHEREAS it has pleased an All-wise Providence to remove from our midst our brother Martin Dolan we dedicate this tribute of respect in fraternal regard to his memory; Resolved,

1st. That in this sad bereavement we sincerely condole with his family and recognize that death has been again in our midst with its solemn and impressive warnings.

2nd. That as we turn in retrospection to the many peculiarities of our deceased brother who in the meridian of his life has been so unexpectedly taken from our midst we are lost in the overwhelming contemplation of the sublime truth, a truth which has brought light and immortality to life.

3rd. That as an Order we acknowledge the solemn admonition it affords and believe that it is only when the mortal life begins to expand its growth beyond the lone pathway in the "Valley and shadow of death" that we realize in full fruition the object of the Good Father in the creature of our being.

4th. That we deeply sympathize with those who feel so keenly the anguish of the hour and that although death may throw a passing cloud over their prospects yet from the quiet of the grave springs hope to cheer the heavy and disconsolate heart.

5th. That a copy of these resolutions be published in our county papers entered upon our minutes, and an engrossed copy be presented by the secretary to the widow of our deceased brother.

6th. That the Lodge be draped in mourning and the members wear the usual badge for the space of thirty days.

Advertising alone does not produce success. The thing which is advertised must have intrinsic merit, or else large advertising will eventually do it more harm than good. If you have anything which you know to be good, advertise it thoroughly, and you will be sure to succeed; if it is poor, don't praise it, for people will soon discover you are lying.

Such is the policy of the BURLINGTON ROUTE, which runs to three great regions in the West: 1st, To Omaha, connecting with the great Pacific Roads. 2d, To Lincoln, the capital of Nebraska, and all that beautiful region south of the Platte, filled with R. R. lands and homesteads. 3d, To St. Joseph, Kansas City and all Kansas points.

The roads are splendidly built, have the best bridges, finest cars, the Miller platform and coupler, and the safety air brake (to prevent the loss of life that is every where else happening); Pullman's sleepers, Pullman dining cars, large and powerful engines (to make quick time and good connections), and are in a word the best equipped roads in the West. So that if you desire to go safely, surely, quickly and comfortably to any point in Southern Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, or on the Pacific Roads, be sure that you go "By Way of Burlington."

All who wish particular information, and a large map, showing correctly the Great West, and all its railroad connections, can obtain them, and any other knowledge, by addressing General Passenger Agent, B. & Mo. R. R. R., Burlington, Iowa. 14-3m.

Your attention is particularly requested to the following certificate referring to those old established remedies, "HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS," and "HOOFLAND'S CREAM TONIC," from that well known citizen.

IRA C. MITCHELL, ESQ.

"BELLEVILLE, PA., Oct. 27, 1871
Sir:—I have just had the pleasure of meeting your Agent, the first representative of "Hoofland's German Bitters" and "Hoofland's Cream Tonic," it has ever been my good fortune to meet. For many years, I have been purchasing and using them to the great comfort of myself, family and friends, having commenced their use on the recommendations of the Supreme Court Judges of this State. It affords me pleasure to have the opportunity to voluntarily recommend the same to all of my friends and acquaintances who may be suffering from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness or affections of the Liver, of kind.

Very Respectfully,
IRA C. MITCHELL.

These remedies are and have been well known to the community for the last twenty-five years, as genuine, reliable and deserving remedies for the diseases mentioned in the above certificate. Those afflicted should not fail to use them. Sold by all Druggists. C. M. Evans, Proprietor, 631, Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa. 2-50-1Y

CAUTION.—The public are respectfully cautioned against purchasing watches purporting to be of Elgin manufacture from parties not known to them, as reliable and responsible dealers.

The Excellence and good repute of the real Elgin Watches, has caused Foreign and American manufacturers to make inferior imitations, with the same or similar trade-marks as ours. These watches are being placed up in the market by dealers who advertise American Watches at low prices, and make their profit by supplying, when considered safe to do so, the imitation movement. Avoid dealers who advertise cheap goods and sales upon the C. O. P. plan.

Demand in all cases the certificate of the National Watch Company, signed by T. M. Avery, President, as to genuineness of the watch purchased.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A CARD.—We take this method of saying that there is no truth in the reports that have been circulated, "that we intend getting the coal business as soon as our present supply is sold out." On the contrary, we have on hand now and intend to keep on hand a well selected stock of the best Anthracite coal in the market.

TESTIMONY OF A PROMINENT PHYSICIAN.

"During the past eight years I have had frequent opportunities of witnessing the effect of MINNIE'S HERB BITTERS upon persons suffering from Dyspepsia, Loss of Nervous Energy, Sexual Weakness, Diarrhea, &c. I have known it to prove successful in many cases, where Allopathic, Homoeopathic and Hydropathic treatment had failed. I still continue to use it in such complaints with uniform success, and have no hesitancy in pronouncing it the most efficacious remedy yet discovered for diseases arising from a disordered Stomach, Liver, Kidneys or Bowels.

Yours, very truly,
